Blurb #1

What does a family man do when he loses his home? What happens after his feisty Latina wife falls victim to a clever swindle? When he and his wife awake in a county jail, how will they make bail with their financial life in ruins? To what extremes will he go to rescue his bickering children from an abusive group home? How will he get around the bogus robbery charges that are sure to send him to prison? Will his son ever respect him again? Why would he take a loan from a menace whose default penalty is death? Will he betray his principles when he learns that his wife has been kidnapped? How will Greg "GP" Patterson solve his life-threatening problems? Find out when push comes to shove.

Blurb #2

The bills are due again for Greg "GP" Patterson...but this time they won't get paid. He and his Latina wife face robbery charges when a simple assault goes bad. Their quarrelsome children are sent away to a group home—the one where GP was abused as a child. After a few days in jail, the Pattersons lose everything.

Aunty Jewels is a hardcore, hustling lesbian who enjoys to administer pain. Once she bails the Pattersons out, GP must make some serious moves if he is to provide decent shelter for his family again. A visit to Squeeze, who is a villainous loan shark, will lead to killer interest rates and a murderous default penalty. When GP gives Jewels the loan money to flip in a high-stakes credit card scheme, she gets robbed for it all. GP has to figure out how to pay his debt and gain the respect of his family again; Jewels has already figured out how to make everybody pay.
